

Nestled in the Grey Highlands and a short drive from the Beaver Valley, the community of Markdale is experiencing a revitalization. With a new school, new rural hospital, and investment in downtown properties, residential development is growing. Envision-Tatham was retained by Devonleigh Homes to provide landscape architectural services for their Centre Point South subdivision, including design of the neighbourhood park.

The park features a playground, bench and picnic table seating areas, open lawn space, a basketball court, and painted lines for multi-use sports activities. The playground includes two play structures designed for different age groups, a three-bay swing set, and a communication panel. Looping asphalt pathways surrounding the basketball court provide a safe environment for children to practice riding tricycles and bicycles. Tree planting was also a key component of the park's design, helping to establish shade, enhance the landscape, and provide screening for adjacent homes and rear yards.
